P-Noy: No compromise on mine leak

It's our marching orders–Paje

By DJ Yap
and Riza Olchondra

PRESIDENT Aquino's marching orders to Environment Secretary Ramon Paje brooked no argument: Do not compromise on the environment.

Paje said this was the policy laid down by the President as he sought a solution to the mineral waste spill in Benguet province involving the country's biggest gold and copper producer, Philex Mining Corp.

"His only instruction to me was to implement the law and to make sure there's no compromise regarding the environment," Paje told reporters on Tuesday.

Philex was fined P1.034 billion by the Mines and Geosciences Bureau (MGB) for the spills, based on the bulk density of 1.531 tons solid per cubic meter of the mine tailings.

Because of the leaks, sediments from the tailings pond flowed into the Balog River, a tributary of the Agno River, which is the source of water of San Roque Dam in Pangasinan province.

Paje said he had been regu-

Afghan war stint didn't prepare US Marine for Makati clash

By Niña Calleja

HIS ASSIGNMENT as an executive officer in war-torn Afghanistan didn't quite prepare George Anikow, 41, for his encounter with four Volvo-riding young men outside a high-class neighborhood in Makati City.

A US Marine officer and husband of an American diplomat, Anikow was stabbed dead early Saturday morning in what Makati police described as a senseless but isolated case of violence near Bel-Air Village and a checkpoint outside the Rockwell shopping center.

The four suspects are in their 20s and belong to well-to-do families, according to Senior Supt. Manuel Lukban, Makati

146 Marcos paintings missing, says PCGG

A TOTAL of 146 paintings by Picasso, Van Gogh and other masters, which were allegedly bought with stolen funds by the late dictator Ferdinand Marcos, remain missing, the government said yesterday.

Marcos distributed his priceless collection of at least 300 artworks to cronies when his regime crumbled in 1986. Only about half have been recovered by Manila, said Andres Bautista, chair of the Presidential Commission on Good Government (PCGG).

"The Marcoses were art aficionados and they spent millions of dollars buying these paintings," Bautista said.

THE LEADER of the Rasuman group, which pulled off an investment scam said to be bigger than that of Aman Futures, was arrested in Marawi City yesterday.

Jachob "Coco" Rasuman did not resist when National Bureau of Investigation agents arrested him at his house at 2:15 p.m., said Senior Supt. Romeo Magsalos, the provincial police chief.

Magsalos said police and military tanks surrounded Rasuman's house during the arrest. Rasuman was immediately transported to Cagayan de Oro City.

Serge vows to block budget for Aurora port

By Cathy C. Yamsuan

SEN. Sergio Osmeña III yesterday vowed to block the P350-million budget next year for the Aurora Pacific Economic Zone and Freeport Authority (Apeco), saying Sen. Edgardo Angara's pet project has "absolutely no chance of succeeding in 50 years" and that the P2 billion spent for it had been wasted.

In a news conference, Osmeña said he would move for a zero budget for Apeco before the Senate ended its deliberations on the P2-trillion budget for 2013 today.

CA ruling may let Reyes brods walk

By Christine O. Avendaño

THE COURT of Appeals (CA) has invalidated the panel that Justice Secretary Leila de Lima had formed to reinvestigate the January 2011 murder in Palawan of environmentalist and radio commentator Dr. Gerry Ortega, raising the possibility the murder charges and arrest warrants against former Palawan Gov. Joel Reyes and his brother may eventually be quashed.

The CA's special Fifth Division said De Lima had committed grave abuse of discretion when she formed a second panel to look into the Ortega murder case instead of carrying out her duty to review the resolution of the first panel she had created and which had ruled that there was no probable cause to indict Reyes and his brother, former Coron Mayor Mario Reyes, for Ortega's murder.

"It behooves upon the Secretary of Justice to adhere to the rules of procedure the Department of Justice promulgated for orderly and effective administration of justice, otherwise the vast power of the Secretary of Justice would be susceptible of abuse, [illegible]," read the decision penned by Associate Justice Leoncia Real-Dimagiba.

De Lima yesterday said she had not yet read the decision but would ask the Solicitor General to prepare a motion for reconsideration.

De Lima initially formed a panel of prosecutors to investigate the Ortega killing in early 2011 through Department Order No. 091. The panel found probable cause against four persons and dismissed the complaints against six others, including the Reyes brothers.

Claiming to have new evidence, Ortega's wife sought to have the investigation reopened, filing several petitions with the first panel.

On Sept. 7, 2011, De Lima issued a new department order creating a new prosecution panel to reinvestigate the Ortega case.

Finding of probable cause

The new panel found probable cause to indict the Reyes brothers, which resulted in the issuance of arrest warrants against them in March by the Puerto Princesa Regional Trial Court.

Mario Reyes then went to the appellate court to question De Lima's creation of a second investigation panel.

In its decision, the appellate CA said De Lima was well within her powers to "reverse, modify, alter or nullify" the decision of the first investigative panel without conducting another investigation.

It noted that De Lima had to this day not acted on the motion for review of resolution (as a prerequisite) that Ortega's wife had filed and which "was ripe for resolution."

In creating a second panel to investigate the case, the appellate court said De Lima "blatantly disregarded" Rule 112 of the Rules of Court and the 2000 National Prosecution Service Rule on Appeal "which are the DOJ's bibles in the conduct of preliminary investigations."

The court also held the second panel which came up with findings that modified the resolution of the first panel "exceeded its authority" because this power was vested only in the justice secretary. The court therefore declared the second panel "null and void."

Ferdinand Topacio, the lawyer of the Reyes brothers, noted that the ruling on his client was similar to the appellate court ruling that overturned the decision of a lower court finding Sen. Panfilo Lacson liable for the Dacer-Corbito double murder, thus quashing the arrest warrant against Lacson.

The legal implication of the appellate court ruling was that the arrest warrants against the Reyes brothers should be dissolved since the constitution of the panel that reinvestigated the case had been held invalid and, thus, all its actions should be invalidated as well, he said.

He said the Reyeses' lawyers were studying whether to ask the Palawan court to quash the arrest warrants against their clients.

Backhoe driver's transfer ordered

A QUEZON City judge yesterday ordered the immediate transfer from Cotabato City to Camp Bagong Diwa in Taguig City of the backhoe operator, the alleged gravedigger in the 2009 Maguindanao massacre who was arrested on Saturday.

Judge Jocelyn Solis-Reyes directed the warden of the Quezon City Jail annex in the police camp to take custody of Bong Andal, who is currently being held at the Criminal Investigation and Detection Group-Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao office in Cotabato City.

Andal, an employee of the Maguindanao provincial government, was arrested in Midsayap, North Cotabato, in an entrapment operation by the region's police and the Army's sixth Infantry Battalion.

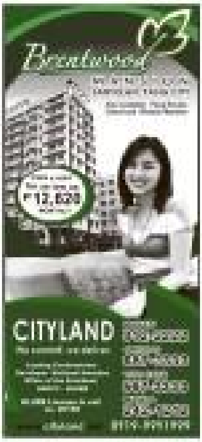

He is the 100th of the 195 accused to be arrested for the Nov. 23, 2009, massacre of 58 persons, including 32 members of the media.

The backhoe Andal operated was found in Sitio Masalay, Barangay Salman, Ampatuan town. It was apparently used to dig the graves and bury the victims and their vehicles.

Judge Reyes has yet to schedule Andal's arraignment. Jeannette I. Andrade
